WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11.-Jud La Moure of Pembina and a leading Republican oracle in that section is in Washington and oracle in that section is in Washington and much out of sorts with the political outlook. He says that unless something more, and a good deal more, in the way of tariff reduction than is promised by the McKinley bill is done by the present Congress, North Dakota will surely go Democratic at the next election.

J. Whitely, who has large interests in Okiahoma, has just returned from that country and is more tunn surprised at the delay of Conis more than surprised at the delay of Congress in passing the Territorial bill. He con-siders the condition of things in Oklahoma really critical for lack of legal safe-guards to life and property.

Of the thirteen Senators appointed by cau ous to consider the silver question six are in favor of preservation of the gold standard, but not, opposed to legislation which will add to value of silver as a product; six are supposed to be in favor of free coinage, and the thirteenth (Allison of Iowa), as characteristic of the man, is not claimed as decidedly for or against. He wants more silver as money, but would not disturb the gold standard. Not much relief is to be expected from a bill prepared by such a committee.

The policy of the Democratic Senators seem to be to talk the Montana Senatorial question to death, and having Call of Florida and Mordullish green and black—the san of Alabama to rely on, they may succeed in doing so. H. C. Eagan of St. Louis is at the National. Mr. Richard H. Sylvester, Jr., Chief Clerk of the Police Department, has gone to Atlantic City for two or three days, his recent illness having necessitated a short leave. He will return Monday or Tuesday.

HEADQUARTERS

DIVISION OF THE MISSOURI,
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 10, 1890.)

The proceedings, findings and sentence in the foregoing case of Lieut. Matthew F. Steele, Eighth Cavairy, are approved. The sentence will be duly executed. A temporary loss of self control in dealing with the mutinous conduct of a soldier has already resulted in subjecting Lisut. Steele to the punishment of public and official censure, to which little can now be added by a formal reprimand. The lesson taught by this incident is instructive to all young officers of the army by showing them the absolute necessity of self command as a qualification for the command of men. Abuse of subordinates by words or blows cannot be tolerated under any circumstances. The United States Army has heretofore won unbounded confidence by the cool, dispassionate manner in which its duties have always been performed, even under the most trying circumstances. This high unbounded confidence by the cool, dispassionate manner in which its duties have always been performed, even under the most trying circumstances. This high character cannot be maintained if officers permit themselves to be governed by feeling in shelr official conduct toward each other and the men under their command. It is proper to remark in connection with this case that Lieut. Steele committed an unfortunate mistake in acting as prosecutor in the trial of a soldier with whom he had a personal difficulty. This resulted from the accidental circumstance that Lieut. Steele was the Judge Advocate of an existing court before which this case was sent for trial. Although the Judge Advocate of a court-martial is not one of the judges who try the case, and although there is no provision of law for the challenge of a Judge Advocate by the accused, yet a nice sense of propriety and due appreciation of self-interest should suggest to an officer the wisdom of requesting to be excused from the duty of prosecutor under such circumstances. Such a request would, of course, he respected by the Commanding General who appointed the court.

Senate Werld's Fair Committee

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11 .- The Senate adro-Centennial Committee met this morn-Quadro-Centennial Committee met this moraing and ordered the World's Fair bill reported with some amendments, one of which is the Daniel proposition in a somewhat emascuited form. The committee, at the suggestion of Senator Gray, modified the provision with respect to the President being satisfied of the bona fide character of Chicago's subscriptions by making it read that he shall be satisfied of the "responsible character" of the subscriptions before inviting foreign nations to participate. The Daniel amendment was modified so as to provide that some time in the spring—date not particularized —before the time for opening the exposition, there shall be an international naval display in New York harbor and Hampton Roads, and a civic celebration in w ashington at the time of tife dedication of a status proposed to Columbus. There is no appropriation made in the bill for these celebrations, these being left for Congress to provide some time in the future. The Chicago men agreed to these amendments in the hope that it would facilitate the bill's passage, but had them so modified as to not interfere with or detract from the opening at Chicago. A sub-committee, consisting of Senators Hiscock, Huwley and Daniel, was appointed to make the bill conform to the expression of the wishes of the committee and to draw up a report. At the suggestion of Senator Farwell, Senator Hawley was selected as the manager of the bill on the floor.

The consideration of the Montana election of Fuget Sound.

The consideration of the Montana election was resumed, and as no Senator sought the floor yeas and nays were ordered on the first resolution and the vote was about being taken in the sense when Mr. Evarts rose and suggested that it no Senator no the other side desired to speak he would proceed to make the closing argument in support of the committee's report.

Mr. Morgan said that he did not care to address the Senate, but after hearing the very able and distinguished lawyerfrom New York, he might feel himself required to say some thing, either in approval or disapproval, and so he did not wish to be understood as being embraced within any agreement that the Senator from New York should now close the debate in the case.

Mr. Evarts said that he always understood the right of any Senator to make any remarks before the vote was taken. It had been wisely said by the Senator from Ohio (Mr. Sherman) that the matter lay in a nutshell, but it sometimes took time to find out whether the nut contained the meat or only the worm. Therefore, an effort on the one side and on the other to arrive at the two proposition, which was to the effect, and turn the vote of the Senate, could not be dispensed to the head of the right of any should now to be tion and to discuss the powers of the territorial canvasy board, on which he said there were no limitations imposed by the statute in words. By that he meant, he said, that its powers were unlimited within the sense that belonged to the phrase to which it was applied and to the subject to which it was applied and to the subject to which it was applied and to the subject to which it was applied and to the subject to which it was applied and to the subject to which it was applied and to the subject to which it was applied and to the subject to which it was applied and to the subject to which it was applied and to the subject to which it was applied and to the subject to which it was applied and to the subject to which it was a

CASTLEMAN TO CARLISLE.

THE EX-SENATOR DOES NOT WANT TO RUN FOR CONGRESS AGAIN.

Will Cheerfully Work in the Ranks— Chairman Carlisle Says That the Declin-ation Is Not Positive—Congressman Frank Will Probably Not Seek Re-Nom

Chairman James L. Carlisle of the Demo cratic Central Committee has received a letter from ex-Senator George S. Castleman, in which he says that he does not care to again the race for Congress in the Ninth Dis-Mr. Castleman is now in San Antonio, where he has been some time on ac count of his health. It will be remen that shortly after his race for Congress in the Ninth District, against Mr. Nathan Frank, he was stricken down with paralysis and for a He gradually grew better, however, and since als sojourn in Texas he has completely regained his health. Notwithstanding that he is now as strong as he ever was he does not seem to be anxious to go into another camaign. In his letter to Mr. Carlisle he says that he will come back to St. Louis on June 1 and will resume the practice of law here. He to carry the Ninth District at the next elec tion, but says he would prefer working in the ranks to being the candidate himself.

In speaking about Mr. Castleman's probtion in the Ninth District, Mr. Carlisle said: "Mr. Castleman says in his letter that he feels the Democratic party has done him a great deal of honor in the past, and he is therefore not desirous of seeking any further honors from it. He says, however, that he will be back here on June 1 and will work in the ranks with a vim if another man is the ranks with a vim if another man is selected to mak the race. While his letter shows that he does not want to be considered as desirous of making the race again, and could be counted on to cheerfully render his assistance to any one who was selected, still I do not think that if on his return here there was general desire among Democrats in the district to have him come out, that he would refuse to accept the nomination. If he were to run again I do not think there would be the slightest doubt of his election.

In the event of Castleman positively de-run again I do not think there would be the slightest doubt of his election.

In the event of Castleman positively declining to make the race Bob Kern would probably make a strong pull for the nomination. There are other Democrats who will be aspirants for the honor, however, in case Mr. Castleman positively declares himself out, and Kern would likely have a hard fight for it. It seems to be authoritative that Congressman Frank will not seek a renomination unless the sentiment of the party workers changes materially before the expiration of his term. They are badly diamfected and Congressman Frank has found that out. He has said that he does not want to run again, and if the party leaders can decide upon somebody else who will suit them, he very likely will not run, whether he desires to or not. They are in somewhat of a dilemma, however, as to whom to bring out. Gov. Stanard, it is conceded, would make a strong candidate, but he is not popular with the workers and they do not want him if they can get some other man who will suit them better and can, they think, be elected. Judge Fisher is spoken of, but doubt is expressed as to whether he would give up his position on the bench to go to Congress.

Congressman Frank, it is said on good au-position on the bench to go to Congress.

APRATIO OF CASTLEMAN.

Congressman Frank, it is said on good authority, is not seeking a renomination, no less because of his affection in his own party as through fear that Castleman will again be the Democratic condidate. He met a relative of Castleman's on the street the other day and asked him whether Castleman intended to solicit a renomination. The relative of the ex-Senators and that he did.

"Why," said Congressman Frank, "I thought he was in too poor health to think of another campaign?"

"He is the healthliest man in Texas," responded the relative of the ex-Senator.

"Is that so?" said the Congressman, and then after a little reflection, "and so you sponded the relative of the ex-senator.

"Is that so?" said the Congressman, and then after a little reflection, "and so you think he will run again?"

Mr. Castlemen said that he thought he would, and Congressman Frank walked away in a brown study over the information he had received.

In a brown study over the information he had received.

A story, the author of which is a prominent Republican politician, will be of interest in connection with the discussion as to who will be the candidate in the Ninth District at the coming election. The story is that when Frank was nominated he really did not have a sufficient number of votes in the convention to give it to him had Stanard remained in the race. John W. Gates, who was managing Gov. Stanard's forces, however, got badly scared, so the story goes, and withdrew his eandidate, when, if a bailot had been taken, Stanard would have secured sixty-five votes, a sufficient number to nominate.

Illinois Politics.

Among the guests at the Laclede Hotel this morning was ex-Senator Thomas Ridgeway of Shawneetown, Ill. Mr. Ridgeway made two races for Congress in his district, one against Dick Townsend and another against races for Congress in his district, one against Dick Townsend and another against the present representative, Williams. To use Mr. Ridgeway's own simile, Democrats are as talck as blackbirds on a tree down in his country, and he stood no show. Discussing State politics Mr. Ridgeway said that he did not think Gov. Palmer's personal canvass would avail him much. Gov. Palmer, he thought, had made the greatest mistake of his life when he deserted the Republican party. Had he not done so he would have surely been elected Senator, and very probably would have been nominated for President instead of Hayes, Garfield or Harrison. On the Republican side Senator Farwell would have a good many opponents for renomination. Among the prosi prominent were Senators. Henderson and Payson. Henderson since being applemented chalirman of the House Sommitte on River and Harbor Improvements has gained much prestige. Congressman Cannon, too, would likely be a seeker for the nomination. Gov. Fifer expressed himself recently as desirous of serving his term out as Governor, and he will not figure in the race except in case of a deadlock. In such an event Ex-Gov. Oglesby, too, might cut a figure. Senator Farwell has not yet positively announced that he will be in the race, but if he is, Mr. Ridgeway thinks the other aspirants will have no easy task in defeating him.

New people are locating here and new manufacturing establishments are being organized and established. A glance at the hotel regissters shows a steady stream of people coming here from all over the United States.

The Chamber of Commerce has called a public meeting of the citizens at Fort Smith, to be held on Monday evening next, to take action in reference to the establishment of a $800,000 cotton factory here by capitalists in Fall River, Mass. These men, who thoroughly understand their business, recognize in Fort Smith one of the best points in the Southwest for such a plant. One of their representatives has looked the ground over, studied our many advantages and come to this conclusion: Here we have one of the largest and best cotton compress and oil mills in the United States, which handled $5,000 bales of cotton last season. This amount will be largely increased the present year, for a much more extensive acreage will be planted and the late rains indicate heavy crops the present season. So that if we had factories here to consume the raw product we could safely calculate that within two years from this time the amount above given will be doubled. neld on Monday evening next, to take action

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Kansas & Arkansas Valley Raliroad, recently held in Listle Rock, Ark., it was decided to extend their line in several directions in the Indian Territory. The road at present runs from Van Buren to the northern boundary of the Indian Territory. One of the branches will commence at a point on the boundary of Arkansas and the Indian Territory near Fort Smith, run in a northerly direction, crossing the Arkansas River to a line of railway at Cherokee Junction, on the boundary line between Arkansas and the Indian Territory, The line will be six miles long and will cost, with a bridge, $530,000.

The traders were feverish. All anxious to cover contracts, while outside speculators were attracted by the possibilities of big profits in the rapid changes in prices. Its estimate was much under the calculations of the most extreme buils. Heavy margins are being called for but there is no sign of any trouble in a financial way. It is supposed that an efforst will be made to find indictments against the persons at whose house the club had met during its existence, on a charge of permitting gaming or gambling on their premises. Judge Ryland's instruction the jury Monday to indict all persons engaged in or participating in a game of "enchre," "high five" or "church raffles" has created not a little unfavorable comment here. At first it was regarded as a joke but now that an attempt is being made to carry out his instructions, a more serious view is being taken of the matter.

Other routine business will be transacted, but the most important point to be dealt with is the proposal to revise the Westminster Confession of Faith, In this district the general feeling is strongly against revision, and Dr. Brooks may be relied upon for a speech denouncing any tampering whatever with the confession. As far as can be ascertained none of the pastors are in favor of any radical changes, but some, Dr. Nicholls among the number, are desirous of church members for several weeks, and batted, there is likely to be a very warm been no personalities. The annual meeting of the session of the Glasgow Presbyterian Church to prepare its report for the Presbytery, which meets hext week, was held on last Tuesday evening. week, was held on last Tuesday evening. There have been thirty-seven additions to the church during the year. The mortgage upon the church property has been lifted and some 5000 has been expended in repairing the church building. As a result of these special efforts the current expense income of the church has suffered somewhat. The session was greatly encouraged at discovering that despite these burdens of debt-paying and repair the benevolences of the congregation show a gratifying increase of about 10 per cent over those of the preceding year, in which there was no debt-paying or repair. A few years ago this church was weak and largely dependent upon outside assistance. It is now trying hard to make some returns for the kindnesses bestowed upon it. Its benevolences for the year just closed aggregate a sum equal to one-third of its current expenses. Next Sabbath morning the pastor will preach on "Personal Work and Responsibility." The evening subject will be "The Parable of the Pounds."

STANLEY IN EUROPE.

THE AFRICAN EXPLORER MAKES A BRIEF STOP AT BRINDISI.

n Address of Welcome and Reception by the Town Authorities-Nothing Left of Emin Pasha's Work-The Latter's Preley-Plans Revealed to the Germans.

BRINDISI, April 11.-Yesterday morning at sun up Henry M. Stanley, the intreped explor-er, saw the shores of Italy. When the boat anded a committee of Italian s from the city rushed up and jabbered a speech of reception in Italian, which Mr. Stanley did not under stand. He went to his hotel followed by his companions and an immense crowd. The of welcome and asked the explorer to allow the State to treat him as a guest Having engagements at Cannes and at Brussels he refused. Speaking to a friend later and in answer to a question as to what me of the equatorial provinces abandoned by Emin, "They have been conquered long ago by the Mahdists. Four stations were in their hands when we left. There was nothing in the country to resist their advances." "And what has become of the people you eft behind?"

"They have scattered and each little group has, no doubt, chosen a chief. There were 300 irregular troops pressed into service by Emin from the surrounding territory. They battalions of regulars have been probably wiped out by slaughter and desertion

"Then what is left of the work accom "Nothing. Give me such a force as he had and I will retrieve it all in one month." "You know your enemies say that Emir

"Suppose you had left Emin where you round him, what would have been the result?"

Stanley turned upon his questioner and with flashing eyes stretched one hand towards the sea. "He would have been at this moment in Khartoum as a common slave."

"You have no doubt of it?"

"None whatever. The Mahdists would have made him share the common fate. Nothing could have saved him. If I had found Emin with a strong and stable force and an established authority I would have given him ammunition. It would have been give, give, give, and pray to God for the rest. But what are the facts? I found Emin and made him these offers: 1. To remain and receive £1,500 a year and a subsidy of £15,000. 2. To be escorted to another point of Africa and there established as Governor. 3. To be taken out of Africa safe. He said he wanted time to think. I gave him a year and went away under a cloud of mystery, which was only penetrated when I returned and found Emin a prisoner."

EMIN WITHOUT SUPPORTERS.

"But was Emin anything more than a prisoner in name?"

"Certainly, he was as much a prisoner as a fellow in chains. His people did not want him. They said in effect, "go and gather butterflies and bugs, but we want none of you. There was no government left. His servants would not obey him. When he asked how many would return with him only one man consented. He was like a captain whose crewhad muthed and turned him adrift in a small boat.

have advised him how to act. When I returned it was too late to do anything but save him."

"What de you think of Emin's action in joining the Germans?"

"I suppose it was only natural."

"But, Mr. Stanley, you have heard it said that certain people worked on Emin's mind while he was sick in Bagamoyo, and convinced him that he had been put in a humiliating position by being rescued."

"Yes, that is so, for the Germans wanted to get him in their service. There was not a surer way to do it. He was sick and in their hospital. Ten minutes before the terrible accident that almost cost him his life he made a most grateful speech, but after he was in the German hospital all the old friendly relations seemed to cease, and we could not even get our letters answered."

"What do you think the Germans mean by employing Emin?"

"They want to annex territory, and there is no doubt that he is going to get in and out off the British coast from the interior of Africa. It was as if England should control all of North America from the north side, and Germany should centrol all from the south side to Chesapeake Bay, the rivers to be common to both England and Germany. They agreed not to cut each other off in the rear, but that is just what Germany seems to be intent on doing."

"You said that you were authorized to escort Emis to another part of Africa, and there establish him in authority as Governor. If that is true, what Part of Africa would you have taken him to?"

"Ah, that would be telling tales out of "Do you mean to say that those plans were

"To you mean to say that those plans were secret?"

"I do, and as they were fully explained then to Emin, he knows every detail. He is now in the service of the Germans, and I have no doubt that he has revealed everything to his new employers, and that they are acting on the facts."

"Then what is the solution of this whole African problem, Mr. Stanley? Can the Soudan be retaken?"

"It can but only by a nation that has a definite plan and adopts definite aims. The Soudan can be mastered just as certainly as any other part of Africa."

"But how? By a long and bloody war?"

"Not necessarily. There are millions of Arab fighters! who can be bought. The nation that arms the beople with modern rifles and tells them where to strike will not only master the Soudan, but North Africa, Beypt included."

"And do you think the Germans are pushing on to the center of the Soudan."

Stanley whirled round on his heel and pointed to where a squad of Italian stone-cutters were at work beside an unfinished building. "Look at those men," he said; "what are they hewing those stones for?"

"Other of the silghtest doubt of it; and it could be done if England would only do her duty."

"It would cost a lot of money, would it not?"

"Yes, such a project would need at least £3,000,000. It would be useless to start with not?".

"Yes, such a project would need at least £3,000,000. It would be useless to start with less. I doubt very much that the Soudan could be civilized with that amount of money, but I say that a good beginning could be made and the foundations of government substantially built.",

THE BOB-TAIL BOYCOTT.

If the Companies Keep Their Word Ther Will Be No Trouble.

The meeting of North St. Louis citizens last night to hear the report of the committee apsail roads was well attended. The undertakings published in yesterday's Post-Dispatch were read by Mr. C. W. Bovard, president of the association, and were favorably received. A minority advocated the continuance of the boycott until further guarantees of good faith were forthcoming, but the sense of the meeting was overwhelmingly in favor of declaring a truce. Another meeting was called for the first Monday in May, with the understanding that unless by that time additional cars had been put on there would be a renewal of hostilities. A Committee on Legislation was appointed, with inswuctions to watch matters and report from time to time.

HE IS STILL BOYCOTTING.
On the promise made by President Campbell of the Benton-Bellefontaine Co. to the suffering citizens of Northwest St. Louis to abolish the bob-tails within a year the boycott was declared off by the associated patrons yesterday. This morning the residents of Bryan and College Hills again resumed travel on the line.

yesterday. This morning the residents of Bryan and College Hills again resumed travel on the line.

Shortly before 8 o'clock a young fellow whose face wore a sullen look boarded one of the cars coming down town. He took his stand near the door. After traveling a few blocks the small gong mear the fare-box was rung, but the young man did not move. Repeated taps called attention to the default, but the young man atood unmoved. Finally the driver stopped the lack rabbits and entered the car. The passenger produced his fare at once and the driver went back to his brake without the interchange of a word.

Among the passengers was Mr. C. W. Bovard, the conservative President of the Citizens' Association. After a few moments he managed to quietly move over to the place where the young man was standing and after a pleasant good moraing ventured to say:

"The—they didd," responded the young fellow bristling up at the suggestion. That one passenger was evidently standing on an individual platform and prepared to dispute the right and title of any association to declare a boycoit either on croft. President Bovard did not introduce himself nor continuany further. That section of the boycott is still on.

The great Anglo-Saxon race in its march towards civilization, stripped the American Indian of his land, and established a government that has challenged the admiration of the world. In this progressive undertaking the white man obtained from his red brother a medicine that is as favorably known to the civilized world, as the American Government. S. S. If in our conquest of America, we had gained nothing but the receipt of this valuable medicine, the good it has done to suffering humanity is of itself alone, worth the hardship endured, and the loss of life in making this conquest.

AN ORGAN'S CONFESSION.

Mr. R. T. Davis, the Democratic nomnee for Mayor of St. Joseph in the recent election, declares through the columns of a local paper that he and his ticket were beaten by the influence of the C., B. & Q. Railroad Co. The Gazette, the Democratic organ, declares that railroad influence has controlled elections and dominated the municipal government of that city for twenty-five years past. It frankly conresses that its own party has been as blamable as the other; that the candidates of both parties "fall over one "another in the scramble to see which 'shall first secure the support of the Q," which owns aldermen, bulldozes mayors and downs either party that disobeys its mandates, but most favors the Republican ticket because the Q men in St. Joseph are Republicans.

Now it is a well-known fact that the O's great Republican leader in St. Joseph, Col. DAWES, is always sent for to control the vote of the Republican members of the Legislature, whenever the railroad but bosses of the Democratic organization meet at Jefferson City to shape railroad legislation, and that the editor of the Republican organ at St. Joseph usually accompanies Col. Dawes to Jefferson City as his chief of staff. As one of the great chiefs of the Republican League Clubs in this State, Col. DAWES would soon lose caste in his own party and be powerless to assist his railroad colleagues of the Democratic organization if he did not make the Q influence felt in favor of the St. Joseph Republicans as often as Q interests will permit.

But the chief point of interest in this connection is that the Democratic Convention to nominate a Supreme Judge and Railroad Commissioners is about to meet in a city which has been ruled by a railroad corporation for twenty-five years past, and where the Democrats, according to the confession of their own organ, have tried in vain to outdo the Republicans in servility to Republican railroad bosses. Was it to subject the convention to this sort of local Democratic influence that St. Joseph was designated as the place of meeting?

Railroad Rule in Cities.

When candidates for office are nominated, the first question asked is, "Who will the Q upport?" Disgraceful and humiliating the confession is, it too often happens that opposition candidates for office fall over one another in a scramble to see which shall be first to secure the approbation of this exacting Colossus. Generally it is the Republican who succeeds in making himself "solid," because, while the corporation in politics is always unprincipled, its agents are not without prejudices, and it so happens that in St. Joseph those highest in authority in the Q manage-time in St. Louis and charmed a large audit ence which sat without weariness until night listening to her sweet music. "Migon' is one of Ambrose Thomas' most beau tiful compositions, and it was done full justice by the Juch company last night. Expectancy was on, the point of impatience to see the pretty and graceful prima donna in the sec. ond act, dressed as a boy. She was charming as a romantic girl, fascinating as a waif, and as the crueily abused captive of the Gyppy she awakened sympathy. What would she do as a boy? She acted well, looked well and of course sang beautifully, but she is somewhat inclined to embonpoint and for masculine juvenile make-up Miss Juch will have to yield to Miss Macnichol, whose interesting figure, beneath a coat, is moided into the form of graceful youth.

The Juch Opera Co. Gives "Mignon" to Crowded House-Notes. Emma Juch sang "Mignon" for the fir

There is much sweet music in "Mignon," more that is pleasing to those who are musically uneducated than in "Faust" or "William Tell," for while it may be just as good a composition as either of them, it is not a "classical," technically speaking, and it contains more membed than both of them combined. Sang by Juch it took on new charms, and the beautiful arias that occur so frequently seemed prettier than ever when also sang them. Miss Juch had an appreciative audience and she was called before the curtain repeatedly, while the andlence interrupted frequently to appland her.

The entire company was good and the cast was probably more satisfactory than any which has been presented this week. Mr. Charles Hedmont, as Wilhelm, sang delightfully. His voice is a rich and powerful tenor, and though less is claimed for it, it was far more pleasing that some other voices that have been heard there. Miss Macnichol, as Frederic, was very attractive and sang her beautiful love song so charmingly that the audience almost insisted that she should ignore the rule and repeat it. Mr. Vetto's Lathario was one of the most pleasing parts. Miss Januschowsky, Felina, was warmy applanded when she sang her aria, "Je Suis Titania." E. N. Knight, as Laertes, and T. S. Guise, as Giamo, were very satisfactory. as a romantic girl, fascinating as a waif, and as the cruelly abused captive of the Gypsy she

A MONSTER FIRE-BOAT.

An Extraordinary Device for Fighting Fire Which Might Be Used in St. Louis.

Chief Lindsay has received from the New York Fire Department a report of the launch ing of the New Yorker, a new steel fire action of the Master Carpenters' Association ing of the New Yorker, a new steel fire last night in deciding not to conceds the boat which is capable of literally swamping a strikers' demands has done away with all hope of a speedy settlement of the great is the largest boat of the kind ever constructed, its length being 125 feet, its bean structed, its length being 125 feet, its beam twenty-six feet and its displacement 380 tons. The hull is of steel throughout, with high free board, and of extra strength and stiffness, to withstand the vibratione of the machinery when the vessel is driven at her utmost speed. So completely are all her exposed parts and equipments guarded by steel that the new fire-fighter will be able to go right up to a burning pier and stay there fighting the flames. The boat has four fixed water towers, capable of throwing a stream four inches in diameter for a distance of over 400 feet in any direction. There are also facilities for other hose connections, and the boat is equipped with every modern improvement for fighting fires on the water fronts and for a distance of 2,000 feet inshore.

There are two sets of Clapp & Jones pumps and two sets of La France pumps, all with an II-inch stroke, and aggregating eight steam cylinders sixteen inches in diameter and eight water cylinders ten inches in diameter. All the pumps are vertical double-acting and of the fly-wheel pattern. The new boat, taken as a whole, is a collection of slient geysers scientifically arranged and ready to be set of in any direction at any time. She will be stationed at the Battery in readicess to respond instantiy to alarms from the East or North River, and it is thought that she can easily run to Forty-second street in either river inside of twenty minutes. The new boat will be manned by a crew of twenty firemen. She cost upward of $100,000.

In New York such facilities as afforded would be invaluable, and even in St. Louis such a boat as the New Yorker would often save buildings on the river side. It was hard to realize the amount of water that could be thrown from the new boat. In St. Louis two engines combined threw a 2-inch stream about 250 feet, but each of the boat's two numbs could force a 5-inch stream 800 feet, and send 6,000 gallons of water on any given spot in less than a minute. elegraph to the Post-Disparch NEW YORK, April 11.-Fast startied by the appearance a few seasons ago of the most beautiful debutante Miss Sadie Billings, daughter of Henry Billings, a retired banker, residing at No. 38 Madison avenue. Miss Billings, who made her initial bow to polite society at a german given in her honor by her mother, was immediately voted the belle of the season. Sadie, although only a girl of 17 aummers, was a stately blonde with giorious blue eyes and charming figure. Miss Billings had many suitors for her heart and fortune, but being romantic she registered a solemn vow never to marry. While at Newport and Saratoga the fair heiress had offers of marriage from dashing French counts and solemn English lords, but she scorned them all. But for all that, on the night of October 30, 1883, the beautiful heiress attended an informal dance given by Mrs. Robert Wearing of Park avenue. During the course of the evening the hostess man who, although his name was only plain Edward Murphy, carried himself with stately dignity. Mr. Murphy, who represented him-self as a wealthy builder and railroad conractor in the far West, was unceasing in his attentions to the beautiful Sadie. He made uch desperate love to the unsuspecting girl that before the last figure in the cotillion was

Of course, ther was nothing improper in this suggestion. Beides, he suggested that instead of going to Delmonico's, where they would of course be seen, they had better adjourn to a quiet little place he knew of just off Broadway.

"But I cannot go there, it would not be proper," hesitated the girl. "Nonsense," replied the dashing stranger.
"Besides, I intend to make you my wife, and a wife can accompany her husband any-

AFTER THIS IMPRONPTU WEDDING the young couple adjourned to the Hotel Victoria. Mrs. Murphy dispatched a messenger boy to her father, informing him of the elopement. An anary scene followed when Mr. Billings called and declined to forgive his daughter. Sadie's dream of love was of short duration. Nine days after the marriage, Mrs. Murphy was horrified to discover on awakening that her husband had gone. In his hurry Mr. Murphy, however, left behind him the marriage certificate and a couppon on the St. Paul & Northwestern Railroad valued at $55. For seven long years Mrs. Murphy has waited patiently for her husband to return, and having learned that he was aiready married and the father of a couple of children when he wedded her on that fatal moonlight night in October, she has instructed an attorney to bring suit for divorce. Since the night of her elopement Mrs. Murphy has almost entirely disappeared from the social world. She is now living in seclusion with a married sister in Jersey City.

These plats will be deeded to the holders in fee simple. The rest of the tract will be held jointly and fishing rights go with each share, subject to the rules of the club and the State laws. The shares are non-assessable. This will be made possible by the proper handling of the timber on the tract. It is estimated that from the 100,000,000 acres 100,000,000 feet of logs can be removed with advantage to the preserve every year for ten years. Handled as European forests are the preserve would form a perpetual source of income, while always improving in value.

Ford in Trouble.

M. W. Ford the all-around American amateur champion athlete, is again in trouble. The Amateur Athletic Union have rejected his entry and Ford is charged with having run Kettleman, the professional sprinter, in or near St. Louis last spring. The intimation is made that Ford was in one of the "jobs" worked by Kettleman and Johnson in this section. While Ford was not here last spring at the M. A. A. C. games and Johnson and Kettleman were here at the same time, if the amateur entered into any race or job with them very few people have been aware of it, and the charges against Ford are discredited here. When he left this city after the M. A. A. C. meeting he was placed on his train by local amateur athletes, and the present charges against Ford are regarded here as a petty piece of malice on the part of his enemies in the East, of whom Ford has not a few, who are constantly trumping up charges against him. his entry and Ford is charged with having run Newspaper Denial. NEW YORK, April 11.—Some Chinese mer chants in Mott street recently became alarmed over a newspaper article which stated that their secret organization was willing to pay $1,000 a piece for the dead bodies of Comstock's Chinese spies and they endeavored to devise means to cause a public denial of the story. Jas. C. Baptist, who acts as interpreter for China-Baptist, who acts as interpreter for Chinatown's "Mayor," came to their rescue. He said that he was on intimate terms with all the managing editors of the daily newspapers and that for $100 he would cause a denial to be printed and also put a stop to such scandalous stories in the future. The merchants made up a pool and, it is alleged, gave the interpreter $100. Since then the committee has been buying all the morning papers, but have not been able to discover the promised denial. Now the "Mayor" and the committee are looking for the interpreter and they say that if they can catch him they will make him return the $100 or send him to jail.

Options for the Purchase of Several Hundred Acres of Land Forfeited-Chamber-lain Park Sold to Redmond Cleary-Residence Property in Growing Demand at Better Prices All Round.

The day has been quite a busy one among real estate salesmen. They are now com-mencing to have all they can conveniently attend to in complying with the demands made by people who want small properties for immediate improvement, yet there are a good many heavy trasactions, more of a speculative and investment nature. Two sales of that character, one of $70,000 and the other of nearly $85,000, were consummated yesterday, the consideration in each instance being a good round advance upon the price paid by the grantors. The sale of the Chamberlain Park property three times over at an advance each time within a period of two weeks is an encouraging feature of the market, all the more so from the fact that the increase afforded the sellers only a reasonable business profit upon their investment. There is a growing disposition in this very conservative real estate market to stimulate it by selling on of the property having expired, the whole scheme had fallen through and the prospective deals declared off.

SOLD THREE TIMES IN TWO WEEKS.

The Chamberlain Park property, comprising about 3,000 front feet, located east of Clara avenue, being the choicest portion of the tract which was purchased from the Jackson estate by Greenwood & Co. two weeks ago for a syndicate, for $75,000, and in which a half interest was acquired later by W. P. Nelson of the firm of Nelson & Mersman, has been resold, the whole of it at an advance of nearly $2 a foot, to Redmond Cleary.

The syndicate which has closed out their interest to him is composed of Moses Greenwood Jr., W. P. Nelson, W. F. Smith and J. F. Conzelman. Greenwood & Co. consummated the sale in which they were assisted by Nelson & Morsman, but it required no special effort to convince Mr. Cleary that there was a great bargain in the property, highly improved as it is with the Cable & Western on the south line of the place and the Lindeli Co.'s electric line, which will soon be in operation along the northern border of the park, out Page and Etzel arenues to Hamilton. The public improvements too are of a high class, consisting of Telford drives, flagstone walks and a perfect sewer system, Mr. O'Leary is now considering an offer of $35 a foot for $80 feet of the ground. The repeated sales of this park property in such a brief space of time is sufficient indication of the strong demand there is for it.

P. Langalier sold 25x156 feet of ground on the north side of Finney avenue, $250 feet west of Vandeventer, at $47.50 a foot, for John A. Gebney to a client of M. P. PDARE OF POKEN

Shortly after Il o'clock last night rather an unusual scene occurred in the corridor of the Southern, which afforded a good deal of excitement to the participants and aroused great interest among those who were fortunate enough to witness the affair. The participants were Louis Burke of Baltimore, and R. B. Gray of this city. Both are engaged in dealing in tollet sets, and both wore stopping as the Southern. At the hour named Mr. Burke was seated on the rather near the elevator door, engaged in conversation with two gastlemen whom he described as glass men, concerning matters of interest to the trade. He was perfectly serent and was anticipating an evaning of social converse, followed by the repose that proverbially is granted to the just alone But his security was destined to be suddenly disturbed. Trouble appeared in the person of R. B. Gray, who in stalking through the corridor perceived Burke and his companions, and came up to speak with them. Hystanders who were near were attracted by lond words, and Mr. Burke was heard to declare that Mr. Gray had exhibited qualities which rendered probable his relationship to Annanias. The latter gentleman, believing that actions spoke louder than words, made no verbal answer to this criticism, but contented himself with knocking the hat from the head of his defamer. This appeared to add fuel to his rage, for seeing the exposed head before him, and unmindful of the prittle nature of the two gentlemen on either side, he brough his hand, armed with a heavy ring, down with full force upon Burke's cranium, which eracked like one of his own washbowles. Burke attempted to the pair of the prittle nature of the swo gentlemen on either side, he brough his hand, armed with a heavy ring, down with full force upon Burke's cranium, which eracked like one of his own washbowles. ''No, sir,' replied. 'I am not.'

''Why?' he asked.

''Because I will never go into the store of a man who has insulted me,' I replied.

''Did I insult you?'

''Yes, sir, you did.'

''No, I did not.'

''I don't say what I did say then, but the other boys said I called him a liar. I don't deny that I did. I was sitting with my hands in my pocket and had my hat pushed back on my head when he struck me in the eye. My hat fell off and then he struck me on the top of the head, making this out.

struck me on the top of the head, making this cut.

Mr. Burke stooped over and through his scanty gray hair could be seen a cut about two inches long.

"I then turned to a gentleman who was standing near, who had a cane in his hand, and asked him for it, but he did not let me have it. I am very giad now that he did dot give it to me. Mr. Grey ran over to the elevator and went up to his room and I picked up my hat and went to my room. I didn't know that my head was cut until I saw the blood on the pillow.

"I have sworn out g warrant for his arrest and shall remain in the city and prosecute him. We will also bring a suit against him for $5, 900 damagos. I swore out the warrant agains him this morning, but I don't know whethet has been served yet or not."

A Good Market-Stocks Sold and Prices Ob

The mining market, although prices did not appreciably advance, and in some cases declined, manifested considerable activity, and there are believed to be good prospects of a spring rise.

Central Silver, which has been rather peculiarly handled for several days past, took a downward turn, but a rally to its support was made, and the price prevented from declining far. The market opened at 15 bid, but the sale of 100 shares, with the offer of more, was enough to send it to 14½. Here buyers made their appearance, and 1,000 shares changed hands, the market closing at 14 bid, 14½ asked.

Pat Murphy was heavily dealt in, and under strong buying orders was forced up half a cent in price. Trading began at 9½ asked, and this was accepted to the extent of 500 shares, more being wanted, but it was unobtainable. An advance to 10 was at then made and 1,100 shares were disposed of at this figure.

For the first time in several days there was a demand for Frisco and 1,800 shares changed hands at 1, more being wanted at that figure, 1½ asked.

La Union is reported to be in financial diffi-culties and these rumors have had a depress-ing effect upon the stock, 800 shares selling between 1912 and 10, the market closing at the latter figure bid.

M. I. opened at 27% and advanced to 28%, lots of 200 shares selling at each quotation.

Samoa opened at 9½ asked and 500 shares brought this figure. Bidding then rose to 10 and 200 shares were sold.

Elizabeth was weaker, $1.80 being asked and $1.65 being bid. Skyrocket was 414c bid, 45c asked; 100 Mountain Key sold at 534. Great Eastern was 5c asked; 84c was bid for Puzzle.

Men Charged With Robbery Arrested

Police Sergt. John Dugge and Officer Louis Rilliet arrested Budd Scott, alias Nicholson, aged 26 years, and Andrew Scott, alias Dude aged 26 years, and Andrew Scott, alias Dude Nicholson, aged 24 years, this morning on the De Soto accommodation train at Robert avenue. The Scotts are brothers and for some years resided in Cadet, Mo. Last Saturday evening they, with a man whose name at present is unknown, entered, it is said, the store of John O'Long at Cadet and leveled pistols at Mr. O'Long's head while the third party ransacked the store. O'Long was then tied firmly to a chair and a handkerchief tied around his mouth to prevent him from calling for help. The safe was robbed of about $504. The men then escaped to the woods where they concealed themselves until last evening.

irmers' Review that the condition of wheat in my unity [seniv 50, is a — lie!" emphatically re-irked Mr. P. or Antwerp.

It is really wonderful how the wheat crop has imroved since yesterday. Then and for several preeding days its condition was simply deplorable and od or improving reports were the exception. Toay the latter reports were far in the majority. Was twenty-four hours' nine weather or selling outlong theat that made the surprising change?

Moses Fraley says he has now left of his cash No. 2 of wheat 875,000 bu, all of which is almost certainly ires to come out for delivery on May contracts on the Chicago Market Unaettled.

Special to J. C. Ewald.
Chicago, April 11.—We have had another wild and exted market to-day, with trading of immense magnitude. The Government report was at least four points lower than was generally expected, cauling an active advance on yesterday creative which was to lower than was generally expected, which was to occame to the first of the was to acrame the other and the bears to acram to the other and was responsible largely for the cellue, although many buils were willing to the cellue, although many buils were will those fidicals who consider the Government report a very fad one. On a condition of 81 the indicated grop of winter wheat would be about 300,000,000 bu or 0,000,000 more than the average for the past seven years. The prospects for spring wheat are unusually favorable, and with the increased acreage we should raise nearly 200,000,000 but or a total crop of winter and spring of 500,000,000 but. If we are correct in this we think 35c high enough or too high for the present crop. It was rumored on 'Change that two cargoes had been taxen from here for export, but we cannot verify it.

Corn firm, in sympathy with wheat, but trading light.

Two Pretty Stage-Struck Girls Misled by an Unknown Man.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Two bright girls, undoubtedly stage-struck, called at the Casino Manager Barton by telling him that they had been engaged by Manager Aronson to join the chorus of the "Grand Duchess." The girls been engaged by Manager Aronson to join the chorus of the "Grand Duchess." The girls were each about 16 years old and said they were May Ilsley and Etta De Forrest, and that they lived at 178 Washington street, Newark. They told Mr. Barton that two days ago, when they were visiting here, a well-dressed young man met them in Fourteenth street, opposite the Academy of Music and asked them if they did not want to become actresses. They said that they did and went with him to the restaurant opposite the Academy. There the stranger said that he was Mr. Rosenfeld, and that his brother-in-law was connected with the Casino, and that he himself was authorized by Mr. Aronson to engage chorus girls. He produced two blank contracts bearing Mr. Aronson's signature and filed them out and signed them. The girls signed too. Then the stranger told them that he would telegraph them when they would be needed at the Casino. He told them they would have to see Mr. Aronson and be measured for their chorus costumes. After chatting with them a while he went away. They heard nothing more from him and said that Mrs. E. J. Heniey, the actress, told them to see Mr. Aronson about the contract. The girls were informed that Mr. Aronson has no agents traveling around the city searching for chorus girls and that the particular Mr. Rosenfeld whe had met them was a fraud. Exactly what the good looking man is up to is a mystery. He did not ask for any money consideration for giving them their bogus.

SHOCKED HER FRIENDS.

THE ELOPEMENT OF MISS ANNA H. GOULD, A YOUNG SOCIETY WOMAN.

She Runs Away With and Marries He Coachman-The Bride a Graduate of Wells College, a Friend of Mrs. Grover Cleveland and a Shining Light of a Exclusive Circle—The Couple Separated

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

AUBURN, N. Y., April 11.-Miss Anna H Gould, daughter of the late Thomas Gould, s young society woman, a graduate of Wells College and a friend of Mrs. Grover leveland, has run away and married George L. Winters, her coachman. It has been noticed for several days that Miss Gould has been conspicuous by her absence. Having been a lavish entertainer, pretty, suave, and possessing a faculty of winning the esteem of all fortunate enough to gain her acquaintance, the mystery in which her family have sought to enshroud her absence has resulted in starting many rumors. The exclusive circle in Wells College in which Miss Gould was always a shining light notice of her departure to even her "dear friends," and this lead to a quiet investigation when no satisfaction could be had from the family at Aurora, and all the facts in the case gradually leaked out. The fact that Miss Anna had a younger sister in the senior class of the college sufficed to check the scandal there somewhat and to stem the tide of reproach. Hearing of the visit of the college girls to this city and its nature, a reporter began an investigation and learned that George L. Winters, Miss Anna's coachman, had disappeared simultaneously with her, and then

The deed gives Col. Woodruff the power to dispose of her interest in the estate and invest the proceeds as he may see fit. BALLOT PARTIES NOW THE RAGE.

How the "Sunday Post-Dispatch" Teachers' Contest Has Become a Feature of Social Amusement.

Combinations Effected in the Schools by Workers to Boom Their

Thousands of Ballots Received Between the Closing of the Polls Yesterday and Noon To-Day-Alterations the New Votes Made in the Standing of Candidates-Inquiries From Many Sources-Undiminished Interest in the Great War of Ballots-The Dispute for the Second Place on the List-Mrs. Rose E. Fanning Displaces Miss Margaret L. Watson-Interesting Developments of the Day.

One of the features growing out of the SUN-DAY POST-DISPATCH teachers' contest is the 'ballot party.' This is a novel idea, which has become quite popular in a few days. The hostess and her guests provide some hundreds or thousands of ballots cut from the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH, and her guests, who are the partisans of teachers contesting for the great prizes-play progressive suchre for the ballots. The winners at cards have the privilege of naming the teacher for whom the ballots shall be cast, and the losers are required to fill out the blank spaces on the ballots. This form of prize is very attractive, and the participants in the game find a great deal of amusement in it. In the schools the caucusing and canvassing of the pupils have been so vigorously carried on that combinations have resulted under which all the ballots of a particular school are to be cast for one teacher. Some of these combinations have been made on the flip of a collected by the partisans in a given time.

Jack, Bob and Henry agree that the one who collects the largest number of ballots in a week shall cast the product of the efforts of collects the largest number of ballots in a week shall cast the product of the efforts of the three for his fayorite teacher.

The ballots still come in in thousands for these fayorite teachers, and the counting of them increases in difficulty each day.

This is what the contest is about. The SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH proposes to pay all the expenses of a trip to Europe for the two most popular lady teachers in St. Louis. The entire trip will be about two months' duration. The public are to select the two teachers in the way fully explained in the rules below. The route has already been published, and it comprises a month's stay on the other side, under the guidance of the Cook Tourist Co., whose tours to all parts of the world are known to every traveler. In this way the teachers are assured that all arrangements for their comfort will be made beforehand by Cook's agents, and the party will be accompanied by guides, etc. If they choose to leave the party at any time they can do so.

Since the election began a third prize has been added. Through the kindness of the Mermod & Jaccard Sewelry Co. the teacher receiving the third largest vote will receive a lady's gold watch and chain, cost price $200, now to be seen in the window of that establishment, at the corner of Broadway and Olive street.

The list of teachers voted for in the order of their standing will not be published to-morrow, but the list revised according to the vote up to the time of closing the published to-morrow will be printed in the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH. To-morrow will be a great day for canvassing on the part of the school children, and the vote will undoubtedly be large.

The following is the full vote for every canaldate in the election arranged in the order of the number of votes cast for each. Some hundreds of votes which reached this office ry late were unavoidably held over until tomorrow, when they will be reported in the

VOTERS' LETTER-BOX.

All the Way From Michigan. GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 9
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: I would like to cast my vote for Mrs. Rose Wright Fanning. I sincerely hope she will be one of the favored ones. Will you kindly see that my name is added to the list of voters, and oblige ETHEL M. BERGER.

"A Picnic for Us Boys."

ST. Louis, April 9, 1890. To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: I send my three votes for Miss Delia Gibbs. Cote Brilliante. I like all my teachers, but I think Miss Gibbs ought to go to Europe if anybody does. She has been the "boss" teacher of Cote Brilliante ever since before I was born. She could sell us everything when she gets back, and it will be a picuic for us boys to hear about it.

EDIE A. E.

An Old Pupil's Choice. ST. Louis, April 10. To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: If the votes can be as many as my good wishes for a favorite teacher, Miss Louise A. Brown, I am sure, would be the successful candidate. An old Carr Lane pupil.

NEWPORT, Ark., April 10. To the Editor of the Post- Dispatch: In a separate envelope I have sent you three ballots of my own for Miss Rose Kaufman. Tell her to keep her courage up, that this section of Arkanasa is solid for fier. After next Sunday I will send a big batch of hallots, all for her. Tell her to get her traveling clothes ready.

SEDALIA, Mo., April 10. To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: Sedalla people are much interested in the Post-Di-PATCH's generous offer to send the two most popular St. Louis teachers to Europe this summer, and intend to have a hand in the decision. Mrs. Anna R. O'Neil of the Madison School is a daughter of Senator E. H. Richardson of this place and often visits here. As she is very popular here, she can count on a large Sedalia vote.

From Moherly MOBERLY, April 9, 1890. To the Editor of the Post-Disputch: DEAR SIR-Please.inform me through your valuable paper, which is engaged in the most popular and liberal offer I ever read of in the annals of journalism, the address of Margaret L. Watson. Yours respectfully.

WATCHED BY THOUSANDS

PHILLIPS. THE CLIMBER. COMPLETES HIS

The Bold Slater's Operations Witnessed by

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH NEW YORK, April 11.-Thousands of person kept their eyes on the big chimney of the Clark Thread Works at Kearney yesterday morning watching for the appearance of John Phillips, the bold slater, who was about to finish his task of making the wreck created by lightning approachable by inspectors. At 7:19 o'clock Phillips put his hands on the ladder and began the ascent, aided by the three quarter inch rope fastened to his lifebelt. In less than seven minutes he had reached the uppermost wooden ladder and after pausing there and examining his work of the previous day he secured his belt hook to a rung of the ladder and sent down the 'ree end of the rope. "Send up the iron ladder," he shouted, and it was made fast and rapidly hoisted to his hands. Guiding it above he pushed it up to the sloping cap, and a moment later the hooked ends fell over the inner edge of the chimney with a click which could be heard from the ground below. Phillips quickly climbed over the top of the outwardly inclined wooden ladder and clambered over the iron one. On reaching the top he waved one hand and a wild cheer arose raising the iron ladder seven or eight devout Mile-end mill adjoining and prayed toudly for his safety and that of his family, some of them telling their beads with nervous fingers as they watched him.

A CHIMNEY'S ACOUSTIC PROPERTIES. As soon as Phillips reached the top Mr. Campbell Clark and James Cunningham, the master mason, entered one of the big flues and passed into the chimney. Looking up they saw Philips' head hanging over the circular opening and shouted to him. He answered in an ordinary tone and said that he could see down the shaft for at least 100 feet. The acoustic properties of the shaft are so good that conversation between Phillips and shose below could be carried on in whispers and the noise of passing trains was plainly heard by Mr. Clark. Phillips called for planks and one after another was sent up the shaft to him until he had a firm but open platfor erected. Then he fastened a tackle block to one of the stoutest planks and passed the rope down through it.

Miss Eugenie Pelts.

Sr. Louis, April 10.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
Please change the name of Miss Piliz. Clin ton School, to Miss Eugenie Pelts.

Answers in Brief.

A Subscriber And Voter. The statements are not true. You can be sure of that.

J. H. Brown & Co. "Your offer is a very liberal one. It has been decided, however, not to add a fourth prize.

Mrs. W. C. Sandefure, Wichita, Kan.—A full explanation of the election for popular teachers has been mailed to you.

J. G.—The ballots are kept secret, as they would be in a regular election. No candidate knows her standing, except so far as it is published from day to day. The race is a very close one.
